DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vangaever et al (USP 4,595,462). Vangaever is being cited and relied on for the first time with this office action. Its use here was necessitated by applicants amendment to claim 1.
3. Vangaever discloses an electrode assembly for analyzing a sample metal electroplating solution comprising a measuring electrode 10. Said measuring electrode is a rotating electrode that Vangaever discloses has a rotation speed controller. See the figure and col. 2, ll. 58-68. Because the rotational speed can be controlled, it would have been capable of having its rotational speed altered to different rates from one rate during an initial nucleation stage to another rate during a metal growth stage. Hence Vangaever teaches all the structure set forth for the claimed nucleation and metal growth optimization mechanism. Although Vangaever does not disclose utilizing its rotational controller in the set forth manner, that is only the intended use of the apparatus and the intended use need not be given further due consideration in determining patentability.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claims 22-36 are allowed.
6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: In claim 1, the defined in situ cleaning mechanism is now free of the prior art. However, claim 1 states that the electrode assembly need only comprise one of in situ cleaning mechanism, nucleation and metal growth optimization mechanism or voltage limiting mechanism. Because at least the defined nucleation and metal growth optimization mechanism is not free of the prior art (see above), claim 1 remains rejected over the prior art for at least this species of claim 1. However, claim 2 specifies that the now allowable in situ cleaning mechanism of claim 1 must be present and claim 2 is thereby free of the prior art. Claims 3-17 depend from the otherwise allowable claim 2. With respect to claims 22-36 see the previous office actions for a discussion of the allowable subject of those claims.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Bindra et al (USP 4,725,339) also discloses a rotating disc electrode with a rotational rate controller relevant to claim 1.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
